Claim Listing

Claims 1 to 54 (canceled).

- 55. (new) A method for regulating gastrointestinal motility in a patient being administered a proton pump inhibitor compound, comprising the simultaneous, concurrent, or sequential administration of an effective amount of tegaserod or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt, racemate, or enantiomer thereof and a proton pump inhibitor compound.
- 56. (new) The method of claim 55, wherein said proton pump inhibitor compound is omeprazole or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt, racemate, or enantiomer thereof.
- 57. (new) The method of claim 56, wherein said tegaserod or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt, racemate, or enantiomer thereof and said omeprazole or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt, racemate, or enantiomer thereof are administered simultaneously.
- 58. (new) The method of claim 57, wherein said tegaserod or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt, racemate, or enantiomer thereof and said omeprazole or a pharmaceutically acceptable salt, racemate, or enantiomer thereof are administered are administered in a fixed combination.
- 59. (new) The method of claim 58, wherein said fixed combination is administered once or twice daily in an oral dosage form.
- 60. (new) The method of claim 58, wherein said fixed combination is administered in a fast-melt dosage form.